Introduction

This document provides information about certain third-party assets, materials, and resources used in or in connection with the App.

We acknowledge and appreciate the creators, designers, artists, developers, and organizations whose work has contributed to the App. Where required by applicable licenses or where otherwise appropriate, we provide attribution to the original authors and rights holders. However, due to the number and variety of assets, sources, and licensing terms, this document may unintentionally omit certain attributions, authors, providers, or license information, or contain inaccuracies.

This document also identifies selected third-party asset providers, sources, and applicable license information to promote transparency regarding the materials incorporated into the App.

Unless otherwise stated, all third-party assets remain the property of their respective owners, creators, licensors, or rights holders. Inclusion in this document does not imply any endorsement, sponsorship, or affiliation with the App.

Sources and License Information

The following section identifies selected third-party assets, providers, authors, and applicable licenses or license terms associated with materials used in the App. The information is provided for attribution, license compliance, and transparency.

Community, Testing, and Project Credits

In addition to third-party assets and resources, this document may also recognize selected people who helped test, review, support, or improve Linkoglot during development.

These credits may include testers, friends, early users, feedback providers, or other people who contributed suggestions, bug reports, design opinions, usability feedback, translations, encouragement, or other support.

Names, first names, usernames, handles, or other identifiers are included only with the consent of the person being credited. If someone prefers not to be listed, or wants their displayed name or username changed or removed, they can contact us and we will update this document where appropriate.

Being listed in this section does not imply employment, ownership, legal responsibility, endorsement, sponsorship, or formal affiliation with Linkoglot. It is simply a way to acknowledge people who helped the project.
